

Watercolor textures

Brick and Stone

Let's now paint a picture which includes both bricks and stones, using the techniques we have learned. I've added in a window for further interest.

Draw out the picture with a soft pencil and then lay down a variegated wash as before over the whole drawing. When this is dry rub over some of it with a wax candle.

Now paint in the bricks using a variety of brick colors.

Paint in the stones with a variety of colors.

Add shadows and lines to create depth.

Paint in the window and add any other texture you need by spattering on drops of paint or using a small brush for fine lines or a flat brush for bolder shapes.

